Record your journey

Global Skills Passport

The Global Skills Passport app will help you identify, capture, certify and showcase skills developed through experience.

By recording your OAE journey and evidencing how you have met these Global Skills, these skills will be recognized and certified by AAI.

How it works

- Gamified, app based recording of experiences and achievements aligned to 6 Global Skill competencies
- Participating students will win points, prizes and opportunities
- Like a fitbit for skills, keep yourself on track to build a portfolio of enriching experience and skills during your Awards program, developing your own experiential learning capabilities.
- Awardees can apply for a digital badge and personal e-portfolio website showcasing your credential, score and best evidence
- High performers will be further recognized at the conclusion of the program.

A group of approximately 30 people, mostly men in professional attire, are posing for a group photo in front of the Australian Parliament House in Canberra. They are arranged in three rows: a back row standing, a middle row kneeling, and a front row sitting. The building behind them has large windows with a repeating geometric pattern. The sky is dark, suggesting it's either night or the photo was taken during twilight. The Australian flag flies from a tall flagpole on top of the Parliament House.

Skills Categories 1-3

Image	Title	Description	Examples
	Service Oriented	By desiring to recognise, anticipate and meet the needs of others, you are being service oriented It takes emotional intelligence to understand the needs of others and to successfully navigate relationships with others This skill is essential to the future of work because robots are currently incapable of participating in or reading human interactions the way that humans can If you are able to focus on providing satisfaction and are constantly seeking to help others, you are service oriented.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Frontline customer service • Conference organizer • Proof reader • Charity volunteer • User Experience design internship
	Problem Solver	Successful problem solvers are able to connect the dots between past and present, recognise patterns and are not afraid of being persistent in finding the right solution. Did you know that Thomas Edison made over 1000 unsuccessful versions of the light bulb before he finally succeeded? Great problem solvers remain curious, employ resilience and continually reflect on their problem solving process in order to improve it.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Mechanics apprenticeship • Competitive e-sports player • Engineering internship • Experimental work • Moot challenges & case study competitions
	Collaborative	When your team is collaborating successfully, you will all feel a strong sense of purpose and work together toward your common goal. Collaboration comes naturally to some, but not to others; be mindful of your team members strengths and weaknesses. To be truly collaborative, you will need to actively participate with your team by making a real effort and leaving your ego at the door.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Team projects • Public speaking • Developing a communications plan for a festival • Building a website • Winning a student election

Image	Title	Description	Examples
	Innovator	Innovators are constantly looking for new ideas or to challenge the status quo. It takes a lot of energy and commitment to do something that's never been done before and to get others on board with you. As an innovator, you're able to recognise needs, have a willingness to change, take chances and push the envelope. You're dedicated to creating new meaning and communicating it to others. Innovators are always looking to raise the bar and will stop at nothing to make it happen.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Participating in an ideas challenge Startup accelerator Forming an advocacy group for change Building a financial model for a new project Successfully getting a new policy enacted
	Culturally Conscious	You understand that culture is closely linked to identity and a person's sense of belonging. You understand and are able to effectively communicate with people across cultures. Cultures are complex and fluid - constantly in flux with our ever changing world. Being culturally conscious enhances your ability to communicate and creates unity within your team or workplace.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Working in a cross-cultural team Study abroad Contributing to a social or environmental organization Learning a language Undertaking a market entry project
	Leader	Being a leader means implementing your entire arsenal of soft skills: communication, adaptability, grit, creativity, resilience, curiosity, collaboration, innovation, initiative, problem solving... the list goes on. All of these skills must be implemented as a leader to inspire your team toward your common goal, vision and values. Leadership is a practice, not a position.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Acting as project manager Shift supervisor at my part time job Leading a social initiative Managing an intern Captain of a team

Valuable articulation and reflection of skills

Indonesian Language Learning Ambassadors

WHAT IS ILLA?

Following the success of the pilot Indonesian Language Learning Ambassadors (ILLA) program in 2017, Australia Awards Indonesia (AAI) in partnership with Asia Education Foundation (AEF) are pleased to be offering the ILLA program again in Term 3, 2018.

ILLA will connect participating schools with AAI awardees currently studying in leading universities across Australia.

This program will provide AAI awardees with an opportunity to directly engage with Australian schools to learn first-hand about Australian culture, community and classroom teaching practices.

Australian schools engaged in the program will improve students' knowledge and understanding of Indonesia through authentic learning experiences with an Ambassador.

HOW DOES ILLA WORK?

- Australian schools are invited to register their interest in engaging an Ambassador
- AAI awardees apply for the coveted volunteer Ambassador positions
- Selected Ambassadors will be supported by the AEF to prepare for their time in schools
- Australian schools will receive an information pack from the AEF containing all the relevant documentation
- In Term 3, the selected Ambassadors will engage with their matched schools assisting teachers with, but not restricted to, the delivery of Indonesian language and culture classes
- At the conclusion of the program, Australian schools will be asked to submit a brief report outlining the program outcomes.

WHAT ARE THE OUTCOMES?

- Australian schools: ILLA offers a simple and effective way to advance students' Indonesian language skills. In addition, with their comprehensive professional background Ambassadors will add a burst of energy to the classroom providing students with lively anecdotes about life in Indonesia and explain the benefits of being a global citizen.
- Volunteer Ambassadors: ILLA offers an exciting opportunity to gain real-life experience in an Australian classroom and to work alongside an experienced Australian educators. Both the professional and personal experience will provide volunteers with invaluable insight and memories that will last a lifetime and better equip them to make future career decisions.
